NC Connected Learning Leaders

Job-embedded professional learning for educators

Sustainable PD for Hybrid Teaching
With increasing diversity among learners, evolving trends in personalized learning, and staffing challenges across the state, we need great hybrid teachers now more than ever! As we seek to better meet learner and district needs, teachers need support in navigating the opportunities and challenges of teaching at a distance. The NCCLL fellowship program empowers tech-savvy teachers to develop the skills, confidence, and experience needed in order to provide effective hybrid instruction.

Fellows
We invite teachers to apply who are tech-savvy, interested in expanding their instructional toolkit, and excited to take on new challenges. Ideal candidates will be early-to-mid career middle school teachers.

Applicants are asked to submit a sample lesson plan authored by the instructor and a letter of support from the principal or lead administrator who will ensure access to necessary technology and logistical support.

Accepting Applications for 2020-2021

Program Overview
NC Connected Learning Leaders can expect
- Individualized needs assessment and goal-setting
- Three (3) days of intensive training with experienced instructional coaches
- On-going coaching and support throughout the school year

Apply by May 1st, 2020
Fellows will be notified of acceptance by June 1st, 2020